

PETS' MEWS

The MewsPaper for Instagramming Pets, Plushies and their People

Leia's Minack Adventure

by: @thetsumfamily

If you ever get the opportunity to visit Cornwall in England, you really should - it's magical!

As well as the usual suspects like St Michael's Mount and Lands End, there are also hidden gems like the Minack Theatre!

The Minack Theatre was planned and built by Rowena Cade between 1931 and 1932 with the help of her gardener Billy Rawlings. She decided that the cliffs below her garden would make the perfect setting for a theatre, so together they moved endless granite boulders and earth to create the large stage and lower terraces of the theatre. Over the past eighty years the theatre has evolved into a professionally equipped venue which welcomes over 100,000 people (and plushies!) a year for performances. That figure doesn't even include the number of people (and plushies) that come just for a look around!

One of my favourite things about the theatre, apart from the incredible setting, of course - was that many of the seats bear the name of the play or performance which took place there. Each was carefully carved into wet concrete. There were lots of other intricate designs made into all the structures of the theatre. Sometimes, for us, it's the smallest details which can make something that extra bit special!

Then of course, there are the gardens! The plants here must endure salt laden gales, lots of rain and hot dry summers... mix all of these together and you get rare plants that it isn't possible to grow in most parts of the UK and are more suited to South Africa, the Canary Islands, Madeira, Mexico and California to name just a few places!

So whether you want to just explore the incredible scenery, take in an amazing performance or while away the hours in the gardens - there really is something for everyplushie at the Minack Theatre!

Hallo (ween) hehehe.

It's that time of year in the Northern hemi when the clocks go back, it gets dark, and the ghosties and ghoulies come out to play! Down South, you guys are just springing into Spring! What fun. So, here's a round up of what's been happening in the wonderful plushie community on Intsta. We also have the first of our new celebrities using the hashbrown #plushiepawmission - if you use it on your photos, you too could have a chance of featuring in a future edition of Pets' Mews - we'll try and feature as many of you as we can (space permitting).
Love,
Topsy xxx

Благодаря

@doyka_supercow
газеты Pets' Mews
теперь
можно читать на русском -

Eye on Style: Halloween Special

by: @altravelbunny

Halloween, a popular American tradition (although originally it was a Celtic tradition called Samhain) seems to have taken over Plushistan!

The pawparrazzi have been able to get some behind the scenes footage, at some of the pre-hallo parties! (sadly the actual hallo-festival is after this edition's deadline). Sit back, enjoy & prepare for a scare!

Exclusive, never before seen photos (lead photo, above) have emerged of a particular King Fluffy @fluffys_fun_adventures! He attended multiple parties, however Sheepsi's security managed to keep him well protected. He is a very masculine alien to venture out as a 'Glamorous Witch' - soon after, this costume sold out from all hooman costume retailers. @bhcc_sibblingsaust (left) voted best witches ~ this one spells double trouble & we are unsure on the authentic designer....

Another trend to emerge this year was the orange pumpkin costume.. Here we see @Peluxos (above, left), and famous model Maxi @maxi_the_rabbit_ (above, right) has gone full circle & jazzed it up a bit with intellect & top-hat.

An original trend of growing force again, after the movie Hotel Transylvania 2 & that is the 'Vampire Family' assemble. Nicimi and Biba @Nicimi-biba (above, left) have managed to pull this off very successfully, with their own blue roofed hotel! Uncle Herbert @deborahmargarethedgehog has also pulled off an impressive displayed & scored a full time modelling/ advertisement from his selected designer sponsor (right)! With the current combination of pre-hallo parties & #plushiecolourquest we have seen some impressive mummies, ghosts and what we think is a wolf-in-sheep's-clothing.! See @trulla_thepigeon (below, left) @a_panda_called_pru (below, right).

The Harry theme is still going strong! #CookieBerryFashion has designed an authentic Harry Wizard costume, as modelled by @cookiemreport (below, left) which has pre-order lists in the hooman world, as well as Plushistan! Word on the grape-vine is CookieBerryFashion is extending!

Mr O.A Donkey @olly_ass (below, right) was seen sporting an impressive wizard costume at an exclusive 'positive weather' seminar. (left) .. we are unsure of the designer at this point, however is thought to be a newcomer to Plushistan Catwalk

More on the next page!

Models above from left to right are Biba @Nicimi-biba, Daisy Rose @daisy_rose_travels, Moosey and Dobby @helga_and_her_friends, @chaoswoelkchen. An unusual new fashion statement made this year was a cat-in-mouse's-clothing. First to exhibit this was @a_cat_named_jackson (left). For all hello-kitty lovers, we have been assured no hello-kitties were harmed in the creation of these cat-bone treats. Our fashion stylists are unsure if this trend will fully emerge or who the fashion designers will be. On the opposite side was the Cat-Woman costume, as seen here on Cath and Poopi @lucky.cath... the pawparrazzi were also a little unsure whether

#plushiepawmission

Here's a round up of what's been going on in the plushie community on Insta!

Left to right, top row below - @lollipop and staralpacas display their lovely artwork. @owlventures has fun in the autumn leaves. @biancatimsa looks fit to visit the chateau (despite a minor mishap with a pen). @mr.orangebear visits the stunning Aber Falls (and later gets photobombed by his human pet - sorry, not featured here!) and @sho.x2.travel gets a lovely souvenir. Left to right, bottom row, below - @juniorthebat gets busy decorating. @hedgehog_traveler finds a great harvest. @bearwithme4ever looks ever so classy as Audrey Hepburn. There's a party at @squeeshy.patague's. And of course, Elvis is alive - @elosokevin. Our feature post (top right) sees @st.gallington presenting a very special view of a small washhouse in Trogen on the Landsgemeindeplatz where there is a special exhibition.

